

ICE Project Form

Name of Project Evaluation manual
Purpose The OECD has produced a manual on ex-post evaluations, but often we are interested in getting access to indications regarding success or failure much quicker. This project should examine ways to evaluate initiatives as they are implemented.
Method The work will be based on a review of the literature and interviews with programme managers. A close co-operation with David Storey would be an important component of the work plan.
Creation of New Data and/or Policy Analysis
Synergies with other ICE Projects The project could be a nice supplement to our work on capital market policies.
Tentative Work Plan and Output The project needs a feasibility study, as it is unknown what the literature will provide of new knowledge.
Duration
Costs (total and ICE contribution) The feasibility study could be ready for the next ICE meeting and would cost €15.000
